

WHY SILYNX?

SILYNX Communications has dedicated its business to manufacturing systems that provide communications, hearing protection, and hearing enhancement in a ruggedized package for the hard core professional. From law enforcement to military, from recreational shooters to factory workers, SILYNX has focused on perfecting a system that protects hearing, enables communications, while enabling audible awareness of the user's surrounding environment.

It started with the introduction one of the industry's first in-the-ear (ITE) communications / protection / enhancement systems – the C40PS -- over a decade ago. Since then the product has evolved to a multitude of solutions for civilian, military, and law enforcement alike. SILYNX systems were born on the battlefields of Iraq and Afghanistan, put to the test by some of the most elite fighting forces in the world in some of the most rugged environments on earth.

We take this experience and direct feedback from the operator to continuously improve our designs. With this experience and nearly 100,000 units shipped worldwide, our customers can be fully confident that with SILYNX they will get Protection From Within.
